WoodSongs Festival Stage is Launched by Ag Credit; Four Summer Performances Already Booked

Lexington, KY – Central Kentucky Ag Credit has developed and launched the WoodSongs Festival Stage as a service to rural communities in the Bluegrass Region.

The unique Ag Credit service is being offered to enhance non-profit public events and educational activities that take place in rural areas throughout central Kentucky.

Ag Credit's WoodSongs Festival Stage has resulted through collaboration between Ag Credit officials and Michael Johnathon, Founder and Host of the WoodSongs Old Time Radio Hour. Michael is widely known and respected for his singer/songwriter/playwright talents; he is a strong supporter of the Kentucky Proud program; a resident of Fayette County; and he has developed the WoodSongs Old Time Radio Hour into an internationally-respected program that showcases grass roots music and performers on a weekly basis.

The WoodSongs Old Time Radio Hour is broadcast every Monday night from the historic Kentucky Theater in Lexington, usually filling the theater to capacity, while being broadcast to over 180 countries on more than 500 radio and television stations worldwide.

The WoodSongs Festival Stage

Ag Credit is offering the WoodSongs Festival Stage exclusively in central Kentucky. Michael Johnathon named the activity to reflect his years-long effort to promote and extend fine music in the region and internationally.

The WoodSongs Festival Stage will feature many types of music including Folk, Bluegrass, Country Crossover and more. According to Ag Credit officials, music that is featured on the WoodSongs Festival Stage will be selected to fit the occasion and will be very good.
